Ten Offices Unopposed In May 4 Elections

Elections will be held this Wednesday, May 4, and will feature no less than ten unopposed, and four offices with no candidates at all. However, in order to give everyone a chance to vote for something, a poll will be taken on acceptance of the newly drafted Constitution.

Grey vs. Connor

The principal office to be decided Wednesday will be that of Student Body President. The candidates for this office will be John Connor, junior Business Major and one of the campus' military powers, and Ken Gray, junior Pre-med and member of the Student Council.

Class Presidencies

Each of the three classes will feature a two-man contest for its highest office. For president of the class of '61 the candidates will be Dick Prodey and Bo Davis.

John Baynes will oppose Ham Dugan for the presidency of the class of '62.

Another debator, Ed Slawski, will afford opposition to Hank McGraw in the race for president of the class of '63.

Gibbons Article In Review

A forthcoming issue of the Catholic Historical Review will contain an article written by a Loyola College sophomore, John Feller. The article, which is entitled "Notations of Cardinal Gibbons on the Conclave of 1914," will be concerned with the Papal Conclave which elected Pope Benedict XV.

Interest Born

John has been interested in the life of Cardinal Gibbons since 1955 and acquired his interest from reading historical books about Baltimore and Maryland and also from meeting many persons who had known the Cardinal.

Seeks Interest

Articles by Mr. Feller have twice appeared in the Sunpapers. "It is my fondest hope that the city of Baltimore will see fit to erect a statue of Gibbons in the new Charles Center." John believes that a monument should have been erected long ago.

John has, for some time, been collecting memorobilia of Gibbons. He has several books, letters, and manuscripts as well as two portraits of the Cardinal.

Prom Tonite Dance May 7

Tonight the annual Junior Prom will be held at the Southern Hotel. The class of '61 will dance from 9-1 to the music of Johnny Moran and his orchestra.

John Healy and his committee have worked hard in preparation for the festivities, and are in high hopes that everything will be a success.

Green And Gray

The Green and Gray Club in conjunction with the Block L club will hold a dance on Saturday May 7 in the Gym. Music will be provided by Chester Kellam.

Tickets can be obtained from Seniors Dick Keene and Hugh Coyle, Juniors Dick Hauer and Paul Karpers, Sophs Mike Ennis and Ted Herget, Frosh Paige Fried and Jim Delcloes, and independent Barry Truax.

The Greyhound was told that as a special feature during intermission, the "Managers' Quartet" under the direction of Wilse Beane will "put down" some numbers.

With Paul Cawthorne on the washtub, Charlie Sullivan on drums, Tom Newcomb with the voice, and John Healy on the floor, the night should be entertaining for all.

Marciniak, Nieberding, Budacz, Connor, Muehlberger, Ederhardt, Skane, Sanders, Karczewski pause before attacking the out-house at Fort Meade.

Evergreen Players Set Final Show Of Season

"Bell, Book and Candle" continues tonight and tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. in Cohn Hall.

Ed Slawski, a freshman from Loyola High School, is making his first appearance as a leading man in the role of Shep Henderson. Playing apposite Ed, Ruth Zarubin, a sophomore at Notre Dame High School, is in her debut as Gillian Holroyd. Paul Cawthorne plays the role of Nicky, and Jim Molloy plays Sidney Redlitch. Ann Rebert, a freshman at Mt. St. Agnes College, will play Aunt Queenie.

John Baynes Medal Winner

The annual Lee Oratorical Contest will be held in Xavier Lounge, Wednesday, May 4 at 1 p.m. Any Student is eligible to compete and must register with the Dean of Studies. The speeches must be original and approximately five minutes in length.

The Lee Gold Medal for Oratory was founded by Mrs. Josephine Lee and is awarded to the student who is judged winner on the basis of his composition and delivery.

Last year's winner was Pat Cullen, whose topic concerned the founder of Cohn Auditorium.

Ayd Competition

Tuesday afternoon, May 10, a return to the Medieval practice of philosophical dissertation will take place in Cohn Hall, as the second annual competition for the Ayd Gold Medal is held.

This year's contest features seniors Mike Plott, Mickey Pelczar, Joe Notarangelo, and Jeff Stiffman, all pre-meds, along with Hugh Coyle, Political Science major, and Paul Ayd, who is an accounting major and the nephew of the late Father Joseph Ayd, S.J. in whose memory the medal was founded.

Adult Hex Comedy

"Bell, Book and Candle" is an adult hex comedy which reveals the love antics of a publisher and a sourceress. The story concerns an influential publisher, Shep, who, living in the same apartment building as Gillian, the witch, falls in love with her when she cast a spell on him. Through the machinations of Gillian's brother, Nicky, who is a warlock, Shep discovers that she is a witch and leaves her. However, Gillian then realizes that she loves Shep, and consequently loses her magical powers.

In the original stage presentation the fantasy of John Van Druten was presented in 1950 in New York. Several years ago a moving picture adaptation of the play was made starring Jim Stewart and Kim Novak.

This will mark the final appearance of Bob Dunn as director.

Spot News

T.K.A.

The Tau Kappa Alpha forensic fraternity is holding a debating contest for high school students here at Evergreen on Saturday, May 14. Pat Cullen will be chairman for this affair.

Juniors' Picnic

The Junior R.O.T.C. officers are going to Fort Belvoir today for a tour of the grounds and an inspection of the troops. They will, however, be in good form for the President's Review which will be held next Wednesday, May 4, on the drill field.

May Devotions

The annual May devotions will be held each school day in May in front of the statue of Mary, Our Queen, on campus. They will be composed of a 5 minute talk and a recitation of litanies from 11:40 to 11:50 a.m. and are designed to allow students to honor Mary during May.

Although sponsored by the Sodality, the talks will be given by non-sodalists

Editorials Get Out And Vote

Next Wednesday, May 4, is voting day at Loyola. The freshmen, sophomores, and juniors will elect the president of the student body, their class officers, and representatives to the student council.

Last spring over 75% of all the students eligible to vote turned out. Let's try to increase that number this year. R.A.R.

May

During the month of May we will have the opportunity of attending special devotions in honor of Mary, Our Mother. They are a student sponsored activity, but the administration co-operates by cutting ten minutes off the 11:00 o'clock classes. In the past these services have not been well attended. Perhaps if they are not well attended this year, they should be dropped altogether.

Letters To The Editor

The old adage "Familiarity breeds contempt" may be trite, but its truth is all too apparent in the springtime behavior of the erstwhile Loyola scholar.

Our purpose, it is said, is to obtain an education. So the faculty did go to considerable trouble and money to import the dynamic and lcarned speaker, Will Herberg. So what! An intramural softball game is certainly more important than a lecture.

The lounge is probably the prime example of the "familiarity" shown by certain less restrained students. So there are a few cuts, chips, scratches, and cigarette burns on the tables. So the floor, after having just been freshly waxed, is littered one day later with matchboxes, wads of paper, and the omnipresent butt considerately ground into the oak-tile floor.

After all, it's all in the game. But when does the game end? And when do boys become men?

Steamships, Stagehands Meet Bob Dunn

by Dennis F. Smyth

After four seasons with the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society, Bob Dunn is relinquishing his post as director of that activity. He has designated John Synodinos, class of '59 as successor.

While a student here, Bob was a staunch member of the dramatic club, and after graduation in '56 assumed his present duties. His last production goes on the boards tonight and tomorrow night in Cohn Hall.

Old Cars and Opera

Bob works for a local steamship company, and for diversion collects old cars (though he usually drives a bright red and recent MG), and he is an avid opera fan.

Like many a thespian he enjoys the mellowness of fine scotch and harmony singing. As for the future, he hopes to have a little extra time for himself, and then try out for some local theatrical groups.

Upon hearing of the plans afoot to reorganize the dramatic socicty, Bob wished them well, but emphasized that all aspects of staging, and particularly directing, demand a great deal of work, and this is a major stumbling block in trying to expand any activity; students who want a better club have to be willing to work to that end.

City Life
Tomorrow night Baltimoreans

Tomorrow night Baltimoreans will see the next production of the "Play of the Week" series, "The World of Sholom Aleichem," cver WBAL.

Over a month has passed since the "Play of the Week" began its monumental cultural strike at Baltimore. The plays have had enthusiastic response according to the station. Beginning with Jeffer's "Medea" adaptation, the idea of the series, a full-length Broadway play on TV, seemed an excellent one for a theatre poor city such as Baltimore. "The Waltz of the Toreadors" was most likely the sauciest thing ever seen on the idot box, including Parr's panaorama of bust and damns.

Probably most noteworthy of the plays was Strindberg's "Miss Julie" and "The Strangers". These extraordinary views on love, by one of Sweden's leading playwright, leave much for critical, moral comment. However, the play was one of the most intriguing of the year.

Further productions have been scheduled through June 30.

They are worth watching.

Various Productions

During his stay here, Bob has staged various productions, including the well received "Harvey" and the well-paced "The Man Who Came to Dinner." Other outstanding achievements were "The Cocktail Party" and "Death of a Salesman."

Loyola wishes Bob well in the future; play attendance, while he was directing was a real pleasure.

Director Bob Dunn exhorts someone to give more.

the Watchdog

Ed McCormick had an urge to jump off a bridge the other day but he couldn't fine one that was open.

Junior President, John Baynes

To gain the proper mood for tonight's Prom, Junior R.O.T.C. majors are spending the day at Ft. Belvoir. Gimme the good old army life anyday.

Federal inspection was held last Wednesday. Although pressing uniforms is a good idea, it makes things rough for the boys who sleep in their cars.

Junior President, John Baynes Some of the philosophy students are trying to prove to us that God made the Dell Building.

To the Biology Department we extend our sympathy. Not only has their calf died, but they are responsible for getting the fly season off to a roaring start.

Dr. Wilber, Fr. Burke Engaged In Research

D-15, the old Greyhound office is now the research lab of Dr. Charles G. Wilber and Fr. Joseph A. Burke, SJ, of the Biology Department.

Last spring these biologists received a grant of $22,782 for a two year period from the National Institute of Health for the study of psycho-pharmacological agents and their effects on lower vetebrates and invertebrates.

The specific aims of the research are to study the effects of lysergic acid (diethyl amide), or LSD 25, and other chemical agents on the nervous system, using earthworms and starfish.

Since the central nervous system is more simplified in these lower forms, the results obtained might be interpreted to give a clearer idea of the fundamental site and mechanism of action of this class of compounds in man.

Lysergic acid (or LSD) was discovered accidentally by a Swiss scientist who spilled some on an open hand cut and suffered hallucinations afterwards. Because it causes hallucinations and other nervous changes LSD is considered by some as a weapon for biological warfare.

Possible Cancer Cure

More important, however, is its use in psychiatry and the fact that it is antagonistic to Serotonin, a chemical necessary for division in cancer cells. Because of this anti-action some look on it as a possible solution to the enigma of cancer.

At present Fr. Burke is working on immersion tests with fish and frog eggs, concentrating on the first ten days of development.

The eggs are immersed in varying concentrations of LSD and at certain intervals key organs of the body are examined physiologically and histochemically to ascertain what, if any, changes have taken place. One striking observation noticed thus far is that LSD affects the heart action of the frog and fish embryos instead of the nervous system as expect-

Dr. Wilber will concentrate on the effects of LSD on the swimming ability of albino mice. Previous work in this field shows that LSD has a potent incapacitating effect on this ability. Mice treated with varying doses will be forced to swim in baths of different temperatures. The total elapsed time is a consistent measure of performance.

Other tests will measure the effects of the various drugs on the behavior patterns of the earthworm and starfish,

Fr. Burke

Different Labs

During the summer months laboratory and field studies will be done at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass. Excellent facilities for obtaining fish and invertebrates are available there. Work is also done at the state of Maryland's Chesapeake Biological Laboratory at Solomons, Md.

Dr. Wilber is presently the chief of the Experimental Zoology Branch, Directorate of Medical Research, Army Chemical Center, Md. He has taught at St. Louis U. and Fordham, and has been working at Woods Hole as a summer investigator since 1941.

He received his doctorate in general physiology from Johns Hopkins University, is now a member of eleven scientific societies, and has his name listed in American Men of Science, Who's Who in the East, and several other indeces.

Background

Fr. Burke is now instructor of Biology at Loyola, teaching seniors and sophomores. He formerly taught at St. Joseph's (Phila.), Bellarmine College (Plattsburg, N.Y.), and Spring Hill College (Ala.). He received his doctorate in experimental embryology from Fordham.

At present he is a member of the New York Academy of Sciences, American Society of Zoologists, History of Science Society and others. In the spare time which he can salvage, he interests himself with his hobby of photography, especially its application to Biology.

Essential Work

The results of this work can help to answer questions concerning the precise action of LSD and similar drugs with respect to site and mechanism which are unknown to scientists today.

A clarification of these questions could aid in the fundamental explanation of the cause of certain mental disturbances.

Conference Relays Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow, Evergreen will be the site of a sports event which has never before occurred here — the M-D Conference relays. They were originally scheduled for A. U., but since the conference championships will be held there, the relays have been switched to the Hounds home.

Over 100 athletes from nine M-D conference schools will par-

GREYHOUND SPORTS

Greyhound Sports Editor

Loyola's lacrosse team had their day of glory last Friday as they romped to an 18-2 victory over Post College.

This Hound team, which has so many times found itself on the other end of a score like this, finally showed that in spite of a poor won-loss record year after year they are not a bad lacrosse team when playing teams in their class.

This year the Hounds are stronger than they were in previous years. This accounts for the lopsided score in their favor, but in the past they were capable of compiling a respectable record had they been playing more schools in their class.

Baseballers Follow Suit

The Hound baseball team followed the lead of the lacrossers with a 20-6 rout of C. U. After not being able to score more than 2 runs in any of their previous tests, the Hounds shook off their slump and clobbered nineteen hits. Prior to this game the hitters were aware of their deficiency in run producing. Consequently they continually pressed at the plate.

This splurge should be the necessary trigger to help them retheir self-confidence and give them a chance of coming from behind to win the Northern Division of the M-D title.

Rick Campbell lets go with a mighty heave (p.s. - it landed on Cold Spring Lane!)

ticipate in the relay and field events. The latter will start at 1:30 p.m. and will take place behind the Millbrook House, while the track events will start at 2

The Green and Gray harriers will enter four of the eight relay events, including the 4 mile relay which the Hounds won in a record time of 18.46 last year. Paul Sherman, Stack Burton and Lew Smith are the returnees from that team and Hank McGraw is expected to replace the graduated Ken Billeb.

The Other Three

The 440 and 880 relays will comprise the same members with Bill Corcoran, Tom Kenny, Arnie Sapperstein and either Bill May or Tom Vondersmith starting in

The other event which the Hounds will enter is the distance medley. McGraw, Smith, Burton and either Sherman or Kenny are scheduled to go for the Hounds in that one.

Golf

Next Wednesday the Greyhound golfers take on Mt. St. Marys away in their last match of the season.

The Hounds have had a tough season thus far, losing to Western Md. 151/2 to 51/2; to Baltimore U. 101/2 to 71/2; and to Johns Hopkins 13 to 5, in their most recent matches.

Although losing all four matches to date, the Hounds have produced the medalist in all four contests. Chuck Pessagno has turned up low man in every match with scores of 78, 76, 74, and 74 against American U., Western Md. Baltimore U., and Johns Hopkins respectively.

Four matches in five days will comprise the Loyola College tennis team schedule starting Sunday at 2:00 here at Evergreen when they face Fordham Univer-

Only Tuesday

Monday they go against Mt. St. Mary's at 3:00 (home), take a short breather Tuesday, and travel to Western Maryland on Wednesday for a match which also starts at 3:00. Hopkins ends the furious schedule with a match (3:00) here on Thursday.

Although he squints in the outfield, "Bird" Carney saw well enough at bat to belt two doubles and a triple as Loyola laced C. U., 20-6.

Hounds In Important Double-Header Monday

Loyola baseball men, having snapped their batting slump, are preparing for their home finale on Monday. Mt. St. Mary's will be here for a double-header starting at 1:30 P.M. This twin-bill is a must for the Greyhounds if they wish to repeat as the Mason-Dixon's Northern Division champs. On Wednesday the Greyhounds travel to Westorn Maryland to take on the powerful Green Terrors in an important M-D test. Tomorrow the Hounds meet Georgetown in Washington in a non-conference game.

Stickmen Swamp Post College Ten; Towson Tuesday

On Tuesday at 3:00 p.m. the Hound lacrosse team plays host to Towson State. Last year the two teams met and the Hounds won 8 to 6. This year Towson has entered competition with a much improved team. And since the Hounds have improved this year this should be a very interesting contest.

Hounds Tromp Post

Last Friday, April 22nd the Hound lacrossers put on their best scoring performance in exactly ten years as they romped to an 18 to 2 victory over Post The last time the Hounds scored 18 or better goals was on April 22, 1950 when they topped Western Maryland 19 to 1. Pilsch and Lamar Top Scorers

Freshman midfielder Marty Pilsch and sophomore attackman Jimmy Lamar led the scorers with four goals apiece. Midfielder Rick Pyle and attackmen Hugh Coyle and Paige Fried contributed two goals each while Mike Abromatis, Pat Cullen, Ham Dugan and Pete Powley each countered with one goal.

Midfielder Joe Weber played an outstanding hustling game. Joe made a spectacular assist in which enabled Pete Powley to score, and he came up with 22 out of 23 face-offs.

So far this year the Hounds have scored 38 goals which is a greater output than last year's

WEST VIRGINIA, 7; LOYOLA, 2

Apr. 19 — The West Virginia Mountaineers handed Loyola their fourth straight loss, 7-2.

W. Va. used two opposite field homers to score five of their seven runs, all of which came off loser Jim Kennedy. Paul Popovich blasted a two-run homer in the first, and Tom Shafer hit a three-run blast in the fifth.

The only bright spot for Loyola was the hitless relief pitching of Ray Reilly and Phil Potter.

LOYOLA, 2; BALTIMORE U., 1.

Apr. 20 - The Greyhounds avenged their earlier, 2-1 loss to Baltimore U., by stopping the Bees by an identical, 2-1, score.

A two-out single by Dave Carnev in the fourth scored Ron Seager, who reached on an error and advanced on Ray Short's infield hit. In the fifth Nick Jackson singled, stole second, and went to third on the catcher's wild throw. He scored on a sacrifice fly by Dave Marshall.

LOYOLA, 20; CATHOLIC U., 6.

Apr. 23 - Loyola snapped their prolonged hitting stump by routing Catholic U., 20-6. The Hounds used a nineteen hit attack, with eight of them for extra bases, to submerge C.U.

Ron Seager blasted a double, a triple, and a homer, and Dave Carney had two doubles and a triple to lead the attack. Dave Marshall had three singles, while Charlie O'Donnell, Nick Jackson, Ray Short, and Phil Potter each had two hits.

Potter hurled eight innings and received credit for his first college victory.
